

Melissa Merrill has worked as an assistant editor at the Ensign magazine since 2006. Her assignments there have included reviewing manuscripts, participating on redesign teams, collaborating with authors, writing articles, and coordinating the department's internship program. Prior to coming to the Church magazines, she worked doing both technical writing and marketing for a company in Provo, Utah.

Sister Merrill is a native of Dallas, Texas. She graduated from Brigham Young University-Idaho in 2003 with degrees in communication and English. While a student at BYU-Idaho, she worked as a staff member and editor at the Scroll. She received recognition for her writing from both the Idaho Press Club and received the 2001 Mark of Excellence Award from the Society of Professional Journalists.