

Some college students express themselves through art, such as painting.