Benefits of Learning a Foreign Language

Ours is a world in which social and business interaction between peoples of varied backgrounds and languages is increasingly possible and important. Ability in a foreign language opens windows to that world. It facilitates enjoyment and learning when traveling, increases awareness of culturally diverse peoples, and affirms the oneness of the human family.

It also enhances career opportunities. Many careers rely heavily on foreign languages, including medicine, law, law enforcement, diplomacy, geography, and education. Employers in these fields expect that foreign language users will speak to them with some ease.

Knowledge of a foreign language also prepares students for graduate school. Many masters and doctoral programs require knowledge of one and sometimes two foreign languages.

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at BYU-Idaho builds speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills and cultural awareness in five languages: Chinese, French, German, Russian, and Spanish. Students will find programs to meet their needs in the following areas:

- A Spanish education major
- A Chinese, French, German, Russian, Spanish, or TESOL education minor
- A non-education language minor in Chinese, French, German, Russian, Spanish, Afrikaans, Albanian, Arabic, Armenian, Bulgarian, Cambodian, Cantonese, Cebuano, Czech, Danish, Dutch, Estonian, Farsi-Persian, Finnish, German, Greek (modern), Hungarian, Icelandic, Indonesian, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Latvian, Lithuanian, Mongolian, Navajo, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese, Romanian, Serbian, Croatian, Swedish, Tagalog, Thai, Ukrainian, and Vietnamese. These minors are not available to native speakers of those languages.

Credit by Exam

Returned missionaries and others with extensive non-academic foreign language experience may test out of 101, 102 and 201 and begin their studies at the 202 level (302 for Spanish). For information about foreign language credit by exam, visit our department website at <http://www.byui.edu/foreignlanguage>. Native speakers are ineligible for these exams.

Because credit and time constraints are tight, students with high school language experience should begin their studies at the highest level possible. For more information, visit or email a teacher in the language you wish to study.

Bachelor of Arts Foreign Language and Previous General Education Requirement

Students earning Bachelor of Arts degrees on the previous G.E. program need to take an eleven-hour sequence of courses in one of the following languages:

- Chinese 102, 201, and 347*
- French 102, 201, and 202*
- German 102, 201, and 202*
- Russian 102, 201, and 340*
- Spanish 102, 201, and 202* or 302*

*Non-native speakers of other foreign languages may test out of at least eight credits in the language and then take Language 410.

Native speakers should begin at the 321 level in French, German and Spanish and at the 301 level in Chinese and at the 202 level in Russian. However, if the native speaker is an education major or education minor in a language, he or she should begin studies at the 202 level (302 in Spanish).

Note for students interested in a French Education Minor:

If you are interested in obtaining a French teaching minor (which requires an oral Praxis exam) and you have not already lived in the target country or served a French-speaking mission, it is strongly recommended that you participate in a semester abroad or equivalent program.
