Introduction

The Department of Music at Brigham Young University–Idaho is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music.

The Mission of the Department is to:

- Use music to further the Lord's work.
- Promote music that is virtuous, lovely, of good report and praise-worthy.
- Prepare music majors for successful music-related careers.
- Teach musical excellence as a model for the pursuit of excellence in life.
- Help students use their musical gifts to serve the Lord, their families, and their communities.

The Department is housed in the Eliza R. Snow Center for the Performing Arts, a beautiful and well-equipped facility. The faculty and facilities provide a superior environment for the serious student of music. In addition, the Department offers a diversity of opportunities for the non-music major to develop musical skills.

The BYU-Idaho Department of Music offers four types of degrees: Bachelor of Arts (687), Bachelor of Musical Arts (690), Bachelor of Music in Education (890) and Bachelor of Music in Performance (693). The Bachelor of Arts in Music degree (B.A.) is a liberal arts degree designed to give students a broad education with an emphasis in music. Students use this degree to prepare for career tracks requiring a broad education or for preparation for graduate studies in other areas such as medical, dental, law, business, or other professional studies. The Bachelor of Musical Arts (B.M.A.) provides a concentrated emphasis in music for students to pursue studies in string pedagogy, composition, and music history.

The Bachelor of Music (B.M.) is the professional degree in music and is available with either education or performance emphases. Students interested in a Music Therapy degree should contact the Advising Office for assistance in planning options. Music therapy degrees are not offered at BYU-Idaho, but course planning is offered to assist students in transferring after two years to accredited music therapy programs.

Ensembles

BYU-Idaho has outstanding orchestras, bands, and choirs (auditioned and non-auditioned) whose membership includes music majors and non-music majors. In addition to class requirements, full-time music majors must register for an ensemble every semester. See <http://www.byui.edu/music> for more information.

Auditions

Auditions for ensembles each semester are typically held one to two days before classes begin. Consult Department webpage for more details.

Music Lessons

Fifty-two music faculty provide training for both music majors and non-music majors.

Information for Music Majors

Music Major Status

BYU-Idaho Department of Music has an open enrollment policy for all freshmen and transfer students desiring to pursue a degree in music. All are initially considered "Prospective Music Majors." Admission as a "Music Major" and clearance for subsequent courses is contingent upon a Department review of the student's abilities and grades in the following classes: Music 101 (Introduction to Music History), Music 149 (Music Explorations), Music 256 (Piano Skills to gain piano proficiency), Music 161 (Applied Music), Music 172 (Musicianship 1), Music 209 (Music Technology), and ensemble participation. Additional courses, depending upon area of study, will also be reviewed. The number of sophomores admitted each year as "Music Majors" is limited by course and faculty resources. Students will be notified of their music major status following the semester of their application and certification of required course work and competencies. Transfer students are subject to the same review as freshmen.

Credit Requirements

Baccalaureate degrees at BYU-Idaho require 120 completed credit hours. Due to the comprehensive nature of the Bachelor of Music degrees (890 and 693) there is no minor requirement. The Bachelor of Musical Arts (690) and the Bachelor of Arts (687) degrees both require completion of a minor or two clusters. The Bachelor of Musical Jazz Studies (693-90) degree is only offered for the following instruments: string bass, saxophone, trumpet, trombone, percussion, and jazz piano. The Associate in Piano Pedagogy (358) is a specialized two-year degree. Students wishing to use this degree for transfer purposes should visit with an academic advisor to review additional requirements.

Ensemble credit is required each semester of full-time registration regardless of accumulated total except the semester of student teaching. It is important that freshmen and transfer students meet in an advising session to set up an academic plan. After the academic plan is set, general advising is done in the freshman through sophomore years by the advising office.

Instruments Acceptable for Majors

The following instruments may be chosen for those pursuing a degree in music: euphonium, bassoon, cello, clarinet, flute, French horn, oboe, organ, percussion, piano, saxophone, string bass, trombone, trumpet, tuba, viola, violin, voice.

Advising

For assistance with course planning, general academic advising, and answers to any other questions, visit the Advising Office in Manwaring Center 376 or contact jonesde@byui.edu or (208) 496-3033 or (208) 496-3213.

Transfer Students

All transfer students who have had coursework in music theory and ear training must demonstrate their proficiency in these areas in order to determine whether their prior coursework will apply towards their BYU-I music degree. The exam is administered before the beginning of each semester, after which students will be advised as to which courses in the BYU-I musicianship sequence they still need to complete. The dates of the exam are as follows:

Fall 2010: Wednesday, September 8, 2010

Winter 2011: Tuesday, January 4, 2011

Summer 2011: Monday, April 18, 2011

All exams will begin at 10:00 a.m. in Snow 185. A study guide for this exam is available at <http://www.byui.edu/music>.

Course Sequence

See Music Department home page for recommended sequence of courses at <http://www.byui.edu/music/>.

Prerequisites

It is assumed that all students pursuing a music degree will have developed skills in the following areas prior to their initial enrollment at BYU-Idaho. Deficiencies in any area may be remedied through successful completion of appropriate courses.

- 1) a significant degree of technical mastery and musicianship on a primary instrument
- 2) the ability to read music and a basic understanding of theory fundamentals (key signatures, scales, intervals, chord identification)
- 3) rudimentary technical skills on the piano, including the ability to play simple four-part hymns and simple two-part pieces such as the "March in D Major" from the Anna Magdalena Bach Book

Juries

Each semester all music majors enrolled in Music 155, 160, 161, 260, 261, 360, 361, 460 must stand a jury exam to determine final grades and achievement levels. Students will perform before faculty in their area and must successfully pass all juries as required in order to advance to the next level.

Lower Division Performance Requirement

Music Majors are required to perform solo or chamber music in public performance for a minimum of 25 minutes during their first two years. Regularly scheduled afternoon recitals and other approved performance opportunities are available. Recital time is monitored by the private instructor.

Concert Attendance

Music majors must attend eight live concerts for six semesters. This is reported through various music courses.

Piano Proficiency Requirement

A basic level of piano skills is required of all music majors. All students are required to pass Music 256. Consult the Music Department Handbook for details.

Special Fees

Applied Music Instruction:

Music 104 - $128

Music 155, 158 - $199

Music 160, 161, 260, 261, 360, 361, 365, 460, 462 - $396

No deductions in fees will be made for lessons missed by students. In case of serious illness instructor should be notified before the lesson so that make up lessons may be arranged.

Refund for Applied Music Instruction: In the event a student withdraws from applied lessons before the end of the semester. Refunds for those fees will be computed on the following basis:

Before a lesson is scheduled with a teacher	Full Amount
During the second week of lessons	90%
During the third week of lessons	70%
During the fourth week of lessons	50%
During the fifth week of lessons	None

Brigham Young University-Idaho 2010-2011

Course Descriptions	Credits*
MUSIC 101 Music and the Humanities This course is designed to provide students a broad understanding of music history and literature. The course prepares students for further study in specific music periods.	(3.0:3:0)	MUSIC 155 Introductory Vocal Methods (2.0:1:1) Fee: $199.00 Prerequisite: Audition with Vocal Area Chairman and permission of instructor. The first semester of applied vocal instruction for vocal music majors. Required as a prerequisite for music major private voice lessons. Includes a weekly classroom seminar, weekly semi-private lessons, and a weekly master class. (Fall, Winter, Spring)
MUSIC 104 Group Vocal Instruction Fee: $128.00 Prerequisite: Some background in music and music reading would be helpful, not absolutely necessary. Introductory voice class for students not majoring in voice. Required as a prerequisite for taking private non-major vocal lessons. One hour per week class instruction, plus weekly one-hour, four-person, semi-private lessons. (Fall, Winter, Spring)	(2.0:1:1)	MUSIC 156 Basic Piano (2.0:2:1) Prerequisite: Music major or minor Class required of music majors who have not passed Department Piano Proficiency requirement. (Fall, Winter, Spring)
MUSIC 105 Class Piano Instruction - Level 1 Prerequisite: The course is a prerequisite for Music 107 (Level 2) and Music 108 (Level 3) class piano instruction. Class Piano Instruction: Level 1 is a course designed for the beginning piano student. The class is taught in a group setting. A prior background in music is not required, but is helpful. Success in the class requires regular practice. Five hours practice per week is required for an "A" grade. At the end of the class student will be able to play hymns from the "Hymns Made Easy" (green, spiral-bound book). If one can play the standard hymns take Music 158A (Private piano lessons for non-piano majors - required fee). (Fall, Winter, Spring)	(2.0:2:0)	MUSIC 158A Music Lessons - Piano (1.0:0:1) Fee: $199.00 Private piano lessons. Pianists unable to play selected LDS hymns should register instead for Music 105, Music 107, or Music 108. Repeatable.
MUSIC 106 Group Organ Instruction Prerequisite: Ability to play hymns of average difficulty on the piano. Fundamentals of manual and pedal technique, elementary repertoire, elementary registration, and hymn playing.
